

Do you remember us telling you it might be a good idea to write the steps for enteral feeding on a card in case you had to perform it in clinicals? Well, it's time to pull out those cards! You need to know the "whole scenario"- just like with foley insertion. You need to be able to recognize potential hazards/problems with pts receiving enteral feeding too. Remember, you are the nurse so you have to be prepared to assess, validate, intervene & reevaluate efficiently on your patient's behalf.
